Cann s throat came a noise; it had no grammatical significance, but it was weighted with all the sense that is in a dog s growl or a wolf s cry. Then the youngest of the strangers came forward: May we sit by your fire for a little time? said he. The night is cold, and in this darkness one does not know where to go. At the sound of words Patsy seized hold of his sliding civilization. To be sure, he stammered. Why wouldn t your honour sit down? There isn t a seat, but you re welcome to the grass and the light of the fire. Mary, he continued, looking hastily around -- But Mary was not there. The same instant those tall forms strode from the darkness in front Mary had slipped, swift and noiseless as the shadow of a...
