This means that he has not the faculty of taking a problem, giving it an analytic formulation, and interpreting the analytic results. It is an open question whether it is the duty of the teacher of mathematics, or of the teacher of the more technical work which involves mathematics, to supply the needed training, but usually the mathematician is glad at least to share the responsibility and to do whatever he can to make his work fruitful, fully conscious of the fact that if he can successfully make the contact of his subject with the problems of the laboratory, of the engineering office, and of other activities, he will thereby add immensely to the vitality and interest of his work. With such a motive, it has been the practice at the University of Missouri to follow the course in sophomore calculus with several weeks in applications to mechanics, this being a subject rich in the kind of material desired.
