Excerpt: . . . chapter xviii the opening of the river ports 1860-1861 1860 A Br1t1sh Embassy was at last established at Peking, iT-32 and Parkes was enjoying the comforts of Lord Elgins well-appointed household and excellent French cook with the keener relish from the memory of a very different experience as a prisoner in the same city. The residence at Peking, however, was to be but brief, for the present. Preparations would have to be made for the suitable housing of the new Minister and his establishment, before a permanent occupation could be made, and meanwhile it was thought undesirable to emphasize our triumph by keeping our representative conspicuously before the eyes of the hostile faction at the capital. It was also apparently considered unnecessary to insist on an audience of the Emperor to deliver the Queens autograph letter, and for the second time Lord Elgin left..
