Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from A Short History of the Library Company of Philadelphia Compiled The beginning of the Library Company of Philadelphia was largely owing to the Junto, a club founded by Benjamin Franklin for literary and scientific discussion, the reading of original essays, poems, and so forth, called a Club of Mutual Improvement. Franklin says in his autobiography: - About this time, our club meeting, not at a tavern, but in a little room of Mr. Grace s set apart for that purpose, a proposition was made by me, that since our books were often referred to in our disquisitions upon the queries, it might be convenient for us to have them together where we met, that upon occasions they might be consulted; and by thus clubbing our books to a common library, we should while we liked it keep them together, have each of us the advantage of using the books of all the other members, which would be nearly as beneficial as if each owned the whole. It was liked and agreed to,...
