Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Original Views of Passages in the Life and Writings of the Poet-Philosopher of Venusia: With Which Is Combined an Illustration of the Suitability of the Ancient Epic and Lyric Styles to Modern Subjects of National and General Interest It is related, I think, by Baron Holberg, in his Outlines of Universal History, that the Spanish author Sepulveda once published an antiquarian Work, apparently for the sake of introducing a single original notion worthy of record, namely, that of deriving the term AEra from the initial letters of the words composing the sentence Annus Erat Regnantis August. And although the derivation is about as well founded as would be that of the English term News from the initials of the names of the four cardinal points, yet Sepulveda, on the whole, stood confest an expert literary nomenclator, and very respectable editor - of results ascertained by others; his faults being confined to his originalities, and these latter being few. Now, although I feel a strong, but, I trust, moderate hope that Sepulveda s favourite idea may not be deemed a fair exponent, of those which I am about to submit to the ordeal of the reader s criticism, yet I would, were it practicable, most gladly avail myself of the protective advantages which every modern editor of the Works of any notable ancient author may derive from blending his own remarks, however elementary, with those more recondite dicta that are already stamped by the impress of influential names.
